

Annual Conference 2026 Brunel University of London

Frequently Asked Questions

Where is this year's conference?

The conference is hosted by Brunel Centre for Intelligence and Security Studies \(BCISS\) at Brunel University of London between 8-10 September 2026.

How do I get to Brunel University?

Brunel University is in Uxbridge, only 15-minutes' drive from London Heathrow Airport (LHR), the UK's largest, and is easily accessible by public transport. Central London is 45 minutes by train.

Do I need a visa?

Most of our conference delegates will find access to the United Kingdom to be low-friction, requiring only an Electronic Travel Authorisation. However, others may require a visa. You can find out more details here: <https://www.gov.uk/eta>

What is the registration process, and how much does it cost?

Registration is available from 5 March at www.iafieeeurope.org

Registration fees are:

- Early Bird (March, April, May) - £250 IAFIE members/£300 non-members
- Standard (June, July, August) - £275 IAFIE members/£325 non-members

The cultural visit on the Tuesday evening is an additional, and optional, £20 charge, which includes transport. This may be purchased when registering for the conference.

Can I pay for access to only one or two days of the conference?

We understand that delegates may be unable to attend all three days of the conference, however, due to limited capacity we are unable to accept part payment or issue day passes.

Can you provide me with confirmation of my registration?

Yes, a booking confirmation will be sent to you by email when you register.

Where can I stay?

Uxbridge is an area benefiting from a range of hotels, restaurants, and other amenities within a reasonable distance.

What are the transport arrangements?

Delegates are requested to make their own arrangements when getting to and from the conference venue. Transport shall be provided for those who register for the optional cultural visit.

What are the catering arrangements?

Refreshment breaks and lunches are included on all three days of the conference. The cost of the Gala Dinner on Wednesday 9 September is also included for delegates.

If you wish to invite a guest to the dinner, then you may reserve and pay for their place when you register for the conference. Due to the capacity of the dinner venue, guest dinner tickets are limited to one per delegate, and these will be issued on a first-come, first-served basis.

Can you facilitate special dietary requirements?

Yes, please include this information when you register for the conference.

Will I be filmed or photographed?

Delegates are asked not to take videos or photographs without the explicit consent of those appearing in them. However, we cannot guarantee every delegate will comply with this request. If you have any concerns about persons taking photographs at the conference, we ask you to raise this with a member of staff.

When you register, you will be asked whether you consent to being photographed by our official conference photographer. If you do not, then you will be issued with a red lanyard on the first morning, and the official photographer will not photograph you. Delegates who consent to being photographed will be issued with a white lanyard.

Panel chairs should consider making an announcement at the start of their session indicating whether photographs of panel members are permitted.

May I share the conference proceedings on social media?

Yes, we would encourage you to share your conference experience on LinkedIn, but only if you have obtained the consent of the persons appearing in any photographs or videos.

Are there translation services available?

We do not routinely provide translation services for conference sessions or documentation.
